

Always know your current home value with Homebot

As a Homeowner, you probably realize you should maximize the wealth in your home. And, like most, you probably realize there are many different ways to do so. But, it's easy to get confused and you just don't have the time to figure it out.

Homebot is a monthly financial dashboard that gives you the answers. Homebot shows you exactly what you can do when and precisely how much wealth you will build.

HomeBot tracks:

- your current and historical estimated market value of your home;
- appreciation since you purchased your home;
- your net worth/equity in your home;
- a breakdown of principal and interest paid;
- tips for how to save on interest payments;
- purchasing power to buy an investment property or trade up to a new home;
- how much your home (or a room in your home) would rent for on services like Airbnb or VRBO, and then finally
- your current cash-out potential for doing things like consolidating high-interest debt or increasing home value through home improvement.

Additionally, Homebot includes a monthly automated valuation for your home. If you think it is off the mark, you can challenge the value and help to improve the future accuracy.

The Jackson Team has partnered with Homebot to bring this service, free of charge, to our clients and their friends and family. Sign up for free using the link below.
